Bombs for Patmos
No Cash for Uncle Sam
The Wat Mystery
Poor Old Trotsky
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

BEAUTIFUL interesting island is Patmos, in the Aegean Sea, at the far eastern end of the Mediterranean. It is close to Samos, where the proud tyrant stood on his roof and a servant brought him a magnificent ring that he had dropped into the sea. His cook had found it inside a fish just caught.

Ancient Greeks and Romans wrote about Patmos and lived on the little island with its 30 to 40 miles of coast line.

St. John the Evangelist lived there in exile, and there were the Apocalypse with the four horsemen, red, white, black and pale, and the "four angels standing on the four corners of the earth," the elders, the four strange beasts, the seven angels with the seven trumpets, and all the other marvels.

They still show you on the side of a hill the grotto in which St. John saw the heavenly vision. Nearly 900 years ago St. Christodoulos established, near the grotto, the Monastery of St. John, that still exists, though with fewer monks and fewer precious manuscripts.

All this leads to the fact that Mussolini, annoyed by the conduct of Greeks on Patmos and nearby islands, has bombed Patmos from the air, killed ten and seized the ancient monastery. If St. John had seen and heard those roaring Italian planes, dropping fearful explosives, he might have written another exciting chapter of Revelation.

The Monastery of Patmos is highly indignant about that bombardment and the seizure of its property. It is a Greek Church monastery, however, not Roman Catholic.

Mr. Chamberlain, in charge of British finances, tells happy low-countrymen that conditions are good in England, "the past fiscal year has shown a profit of $200,000,000," and "the atmosphere is distinctly brighter."

It is not bright for you, Uncle Sam. Mr. Chamberlain also announced that he did not propose to make any provision for the payment of war debts to America, "and the statement was loudly cheered. It is a hope that President Roosevelt will, in his own time, make a reply that will be 'loudly cheered' on this side of the water."

Money can be collected from England and other countries by a tax on all shipping entering our ports.

We still own the ports and the docks, at least that is the popular theory. They could not sell so easily since we own little shipping.

The United States would like to hear President Roosevelt say to the British, the French and the others, "There are several ways of skinning a cat, and I propose to show you one or two of them."

Young ladies attending the fateful Virginia dinner, at which Dr. Wies thought he heard someone call President Roosevelt "only the Keresany in the revolution, soon to be replaced with a genuine Stalin," testify that nothing of the kind was said.

In fact the young ladies agree that the dinner started with a monologue by Dr. Wies, who outlasted the dinner. Nobody else could say a word.

You feel sorry for poor old Trotsky, despite the color of his politics. Fate put him in the Russian revolution, raising him to the heights, Stalin threw him out, into Turkey, he wandered to France and gallantly started organizing a "Fourth International" to "put an end to all organized government."

The French government put him out of France, and he doesn't know where to go.

He thinks the United States, but what with Professor Wirt and one thing and another he can hardly hope to get in here. England used to receive all revolutionaries, but since other countries may reject Trotsky, to avoid offending the younger, more powerful Stalin.

Nothing is more pathetically futile than trying to overthrow government at an inopportune time. Governments overthrow themselves. Nobody can do it for them. Profoundism said it long ago.

"Monarchies perish through poverty, republics through wealth."

LIBBY KIDNAP CLUE BARED HERE

Search for the kidnap-killers of the Lindbergh baby quickened into new life here today when U. S. Marshal John J. Murphy wired New York authorities to send Dr. J. P. (Jack) Condon to Boston at once.

Murphy admitted that a new and important clue to the tragedy of the Lindbergh baby had been discovered.

"I am anxious to determine as far as is humanly possible the identity of the man—or men—to whom Dr. Condon paid that money," Murphy said.

RANSOM MONEY FOUND
The marshal recalled the Fordham instructor's statement of two years ago that he had thrown the money over a lonely cemetery wall and then waited in vain for the missing child of the Lense Eagle and Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

At the Federal building it was learned that some of the ransom money has come to light recently, but Murphy refused to say anything about this.

"That angle of it," he said, "is entirely in the hands of the Department of Justice, which never for a moment has related information to solve the crime."

Murphy recalled the reiterated statements of Dr. Condon that he would be able to identify the man who acted as go-between for him and the alleged kidnapers.

Now it is believed by Federal Building attaches that Murphy has a picture considered to be that of the alleged go-between, and that he knows the whereabouts of this man.

CLUE BARED, ANOTHER ACCEPTED

BULLETIN
Dedham Courthouse, April 18—A Dedham man, William Libby, 46, retired, was accepted by both sides as the sixth juror for the trial of Abe Faber and the Millen brothers late today. In answer to a query, Libby said he believed in God but in no creed, "only in good fellowship." He was the 44th talesman examined. Rev. Norman Brighton, father of Murton Millen's bride, engaged in a 15-minute whispered conference with Joseph Millen, Murton's father, inside the court enclosure.

Dedham Courthouse, April 18—Five seated—seven in go.

That was the status of the jury box at the Faber-Millens murder trial this afternoon.

To the surprise of everybody in the courtroom, a sixth jurymen, having once been accepted and seated with the others, was recalled and excused.

The discovery was made that he had been slugged and robbed in Boston last Saturday night. A head injury revealed it.

But this trial is replete with unexpected developments. Rarely has a jury-picking been so stocked with precedent-setting climax.

The new jury—number five—was Michael L. Doherty, 57, of Avon, a salesman. He is a married man, tall, spare and ruddy of complexion.

Judge Asks About
Wound on Head
Frank T. Appleton, 55, Quincy paper hanger, a native of South Boston, had been accepted but after a recess he was removed from his place in the jury-box.

Judge Brown P. Brown, returning from this recess, addressed defense attorneys, saying:

"Will counsel for the defense permit me to call Juror No. 6, Appleton, to the stand for further questioning?"

There was a hurried conference between George Stanley Harvey for the Millens and William R. Scharton for Faber. Scharton talked at length about the will of his client, Judge Brown, smiling, said:

"I take it that you are inclined to object."

Scharton assured him. Appleton was recalled to the stand.

Judge Brown peered at him through his glasses.

"That marks on your forehead," he said, "how did you get it?"

Judge Brown said he would see the middle of the jury's forehead.

"Would You Have Prejudice?" Asks Court
Appleton, sniffling from one foot to the other.

SENATORS LEAD A Rescue for Aviation

TO bring order out of the chaos into which American aviation has been plunged by the wrecking of the federal airmail, Senator McCarran, of Nevada, has introduced in the Senate a measure of tremendous importance.

This is the McCarran bill for the future regulation in the public interest of commercial aviation.

The McCarran bill provides:

First, for the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity to all air transport companies which were in operation on a fixed daily schedule on the first of the present year.

Second, for the creation of a federal air commission to regulate in the public interest commercial aviation in much the same way that the railroads are regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Air transport companies, having contracts with the government to carry the mail, under the legislation proposed by Senator McCarran, operate under a certificate of public convenience at reasonable rates to be fixed by the commission.

McCarran Bill Seen as a Rescue for Aviation

THE commission would receive applications of new air transport companies seeking to obtain mail contracts. After a public hearing the commission would then decide whether the public interest required the granting of such a certificate.

These and other important decisions regarding the carrying of the federal airmail and the regulation of air transport would not be subject to the whims of pork-barrel politicians. They would be made by the federal air commission, which would be an independent and impartial tribunal.

The new commission, for which the McCarran bill provides, would also be charged with fixing all the conditions under which the airmail should be carried.

It would protect the rights to fair treatment of the air transport pilots.

It would protect the stockholders of the companies obtaining contracts for carrying mail.

It would protect commercial aviation from exploitation and safeguard it as a vital auxiliary of the national defense.

It would authorize the President, in time of war, to take over all air transport for the carrying of troops and materials of war.

The McCarran bill embodies the carefully considered recommendations of the ablest authorities on commercial aviation. Its enactment into law would not only revive American air transport. It would also protect all commercial aviation in the future from the melancholy blunders that have recently wrecked the federal airmail and dealt a hard blow to commercial aviation in America.

STOCK BILL IS NEARLY READY

By Associated Press
Washington, April 18—A stock market control bill, containing sufficient "rescue" to satisfy friends of the original Fletcher Rayburn proposal but bearing little resemblance to the original plan, is being prepared by the Senate and House committees.

There were many on Capitol Hill willing to predict that these would be its major features.

Regulation for exchanges by a new federal securities exchange commission composed of five members, which also probably would be charged with administering the securities act.

Joint responsibility for marginal reputation between the new commission and the Federal reserve board under wide discretionary power, but under a standard written into law as in the pending House bill.

Authority for the commission to set up rules for trading which would segregate as far as practicable the functions of broker and dealer, but with no statutory prohibition against combination of the two activities.

Power for the commission to compel regular annual audits of all companies listing securities and to require frequent, monthly or quarterly reports.

Rigid prohibition against and penalties for manipulative operations on an exchange.

Provisions requiring officers, directors and large stockholders of a company to report monthly on their operations in its stocks and to turn over to it profits resulting from speculative activities.

OIL EXPLOSION IN BRAINTREE

The huge petroleum refining plant of the Cities Service Co., Quincy ave., East Braintree, was menaced today when an explosion followed by fire destroyed a high pressure cracking unit.

Leaking gas in one of the feed lines, which was ignited by burners under the pipe line, is believed to have caused the blast and the resulting fire.

The entire district was aroused by the explosion and for a time many residents prepared to leave their homes, fearing the blast would spread through the whole plant and endanger their property.

Flames shot high into the air and could be seen for many miles. Rapid shutting off of pipe connections to other stills by plant workers prevented the flame from spreading and causing greater damage. The flames were confined to one still, which, with its contents was a total loss.

Morning Dip in Charles Is Latest

It was a strange sight, indeed, that greeted Patrolman John Brenner, of the Metropolitan Police, when he scanned the Charles river to see that all was well along the "coast" line.

The sun came up true to form, and the gulls floated overhead as in their early morning custom.

But Patrolman Brenner was mystified when a figure, what of a man—emerged from the water of the river near the Union Boston club.

His fears were quickly allayed, however, for the man explained that he had been standing on the punt club float when he was stricken with a dizzy spell. He tumbled into the water, and when spotted by the officer, merely happened to be rescuing himself.

So Patrolman Brenner called the ambulance and took the man to the Haymarket Hall hospital where he was treated for shock and immersion. He said he was Donald Mangini, 48, of Tremont st., Boston.

GUARDS SAVE GIRL'S SLAYER

By Associated Press
Shreveport, La., April 18—Soldiers of Louisiana guarded a confessed girl-slayer today from any attempted renewal of his mob violence that swirled for hours during the night around—and even inside—Caddo Parish's million dollar courthouse.

The mob, growing until it numbered nearly 5000, was after Fred Lockhart, 38, a salesman of artificial butterflies. He had confessed to Sheriff W. R. Hughes that he attacked and killed Mae Giffin, 16.

Strangers from the mob milled about the jail early today and there were reports that many men from outside Caddo Parish were on their way to join them. Officers were confident, however, that any further attack could be stopped by the guardsmen, called by Gov. O. K. Allen.

Every Citizen Should Ask Congressional Representative to Back McLeod Bill

EVERY citizen should be interested in the McLeod Bill, now before Congress. The measure provides for full payment of depositors of closed banks which belonged to the Federal Reserve System.

Communicate at once with your Congressional Representative, urging him or her to work for enactment of the bill at this session.

Ask your Representative to urge the House Rules Committee to report a special rule for immediate consideration of the McLeod Bill on the floor of the House.

MCLEOD BILL BACKERS SEEK QUICK HOUSE ACTION

Leaders Confer With President and Leave White House With Feeling of Administration's Support

By Universal Service

Washington, April 18.—The McLeod bill for relief of depositors came up for consideration by the House rules committee today. It was proposed to debate a resolution to bring the bill to the floor immediately.

Rep. McLeod, (R) of Michigan, and A. Mitchell Palmer, former Democratic Attorney General, went to the White House yesterday to appeal to the President to urge enactment of the measure at this session.

MCLEOD ENCOURAGED

Although Roosevelt had previously indicated opposition to the plan, McLeod, emerged smiling from the 45-minute conference, and declared:

"I am encouraged by the attitude of the President in hearing our arguments in behalf of the bill. He was very much interested. We had a pleasant conference."

"If the House leadership will permit a vote, the bill would be passed by a big majority, and I feel certain the administration would not disapprove it."

The President called Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and C. B. Merrim, of the Deposit Liquidation Board of the RFC, into the conference.

The only member to express "right" opposition was Jones, who said: "I have repeatedly declared I did not see how this legislation could be justified. A great many of the assets are not, as popularly supposed, frozen. They are lost."

It was agreed that if the President gives the work, hesitant House leaders will remove the barriers and bring the bill to a vote. Some Democrats indicated the President might favor a modified measure, providing for partial, instead of 100 per cent, payoff to depositors in national banks and state banks belonging to the Federal Reserve System.

Pay Bank Depositors

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS:

As an important help toward national recovery, the undersigned urges passage of the McLeod Bill, now before Congress, which provides for paying in full depositors of closed banks which belong to the Federal Reserve System.

Toward this end I urge that the RFC make loan arrangements with the closed banks.

This procedure would give positive stimulus to business by converting frozen, idle and at present useless bank deposits into immediately available purchasing power.

I urge immediate congressional action on the McLeod Bill.

Roosevelt Opposes McLeod Bank Bill Limitations

Washington, April 18 (INS).—President Roosevelt is opposed to the McLeod bill, providing for a government pay-off to depositors in closed member banks of the Federal Reserve System, but he recognizes that something further should be done for the relief of hard-hit depositors.

This was disclosed officially at the White House today, with an announcement that Mr. Roosevelt has instructed officials of the RFC, the controller of the currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to make a wide survey of banks still closed, with a view to adopting a more liberal federal policy.

Every banking institution still closed will be included in the survey.

Mr. Roosevelt's opposition to the McLeod bill, as now written, is based upon his belief that certain inequalities would occur in its operation. He believes that the present policy of extending bank relief through the RFC's purchase of assets and making loans is preferable. He considers that perhaps the present policy has not been liberal enough, and to that end has ordered the re-examination of the institutions still closed.

Recently the President said, in speaking of the McLeod bill, that he and his family had lost money in other bank failures as far back as the turn of the century, and facetiously suggested that perhaps the McLeod bill might be extended to include recovery for these losses.

A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney-general in the Wilson administration, presented Mr. Roosevelt at yesterday's conference a plea that the government had a moral obligation in rescuing depositors. He pointed out that the government not only had encouraged placing money in the banks in its anti-banking campaign, but also had knowingly permitted some of the banks to remain open and accept deposits at a time when their condition did not warrant.

To this, Mr. Roosevelt is understood to have responded that this policy did not impair the assets of the banks.

A NEW GOLD RUSH is sweeping the country, not in Canyons or Gulches, but in old Bureau Drawers.

When President Roosevelt, with a stroke of his pen, increased the price of gold, it started millions of people searching in odd corners, old bureaus, chests and closets for gold, old gold (that is, bits of out of date jewelry, dental gold and old watches). Today these are worth more than they have been for two generations.

Grandfather's watch with the deer on the back, and Aunt Sally's locker with the strand of hair, all have a real cash value.

GIRL SPELLING WINNERS LEAD BOYS 4 TO 1

By THE SPELLING BEE EDITOR

The place of "little women" in the Boston spelling situation has been rather clearly demonstrated as the returns come in following the School Championships in the National and Metropolitan Spelling Bess of the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Out of 291 champions already catalogued nearly two-thirds are girls and in most instances the last five spellers surviving the last few minutes of spelling down registered four girls to one boy.

SEMI-FINALS APRIL 27

However, there are still boys enough among the school title holders to compete in every one of the district spellings which are to be held on April 27, and which will mark the semifinals of the local phase of the greatest elementary school contest New England has ever known.

Beginning tomorrow the Boston Evening American will print roundups of words upon which championships were won and lost in last Friday's School Spelling Bess. This list of words will form the nucleus of the District Championships to be called upon to answer — and properly so.

EXTRA WORDS LISTED

Additional words will be taken from the Grade Spelling Books of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades so that a routine of study, combining the books named and the words published in the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser, will provide adequate preparation for the district championships.

Prior to the distribution of the bronze medals won by the school champions the Spelling Bee Editor would like to dispose of the last few remaining copies of Webster's Collegiate Dictionary won by hundreds of champions in Grade tests.

Our Records disclose a Customer named PAUL REVERE

With his place in history secure, Patriot Paul Revere settled down to making a living. From 1784 to 1788, we find him as an active customer of the Massachusetts Bank, our forbear.

Little wonder that Revere needed a strong banking connection. For among his business activities this remarkable Yankee counted the following: He was a skilled etcher and engraver, cartoonist, silversmith, bell maker, manufacturer of gunpowder, designer and engraver of bank notes, the founder of an insurance company and even found time to manufacture false teeth as a side line!

Your business or personal activities may not be as diverse as Paul Revere's. Yet there is satisfaction in knowing that as a customer of this Bank you will find here the machinery and experience to provide every modern banking service from the handling of the simplest checking account to the accurate transaction of the most complicated problem in foreign exchange.

Waltham to Get Extra Gardens

Land used by Waltham unemployed as garden plots will be increased by more than 50 per cent this year through the generosity of Mrs. Arthur Lyman, according to an announcement by Mayor Fredrick L. McDonald.

Mayor McDonald revealed 230 of the 277 plots offered have already been accepted and that he would make use of the entire number if 1500 needed for additional fertilizer could be raised by public subscription.

Bill Tell Gang Steals Arms

Either William Tell dropped into town early today or else gangland is going the police one better in the manner of arming for battle.

Patrolman Samuel Willis, of the Back Bay station, found a window broken in the quarters of the Robin Hood Archery club, 37 Irvington st., early this morning.

Several lockers had been battered in and rifled and a dozen bows and arrows had been stolen.

Bakers Urged to Give NRA Support

In an address at the ball of the Italian Master Bakers' Association of New England at Hotel Bradford last night, Peter Orlando, president of Orlando Bakery, Inc., and member of the bakery code committee, urged support of the NRA movement.

Other speakers were Mito Petette and John Carino of Boston, and Peter Brada of New York.

30 DAYS MORE FOR RUSHMORE EPIC SCRIPT

Entries continue to pour in for the M. Rushmore Memorial intercollegiate competition. Yesterday Kenneth M. Ellis, director of the competition, with headquarters in New York, warned student competitors that less than a month remains for them to write their contributions for the competition. He said:

"Grammar school, high school and college students who are planning to enter this competition should remember that their tests should be submitted to him on May 12. It is not mean to imply that they should hurry their work, but it is important that they should get started at once, if they have not already done so."

"The educational period of the competition is over. The contest articles by Henry Woodhouse, dealing with each of the historic episodes, have already been published in the student newspapers and should be of great help to the contestants."

"In addition to this, the Herald newspapers have printed every day, as an aid to those who plan to enter it, those who wish to compete for the scholarships and other attractive prizes are therefore urged to give their efforts, on the drafts of their inscriptions."

Laura La Plante Divorced as Tears Fight Smiles

By CHARLES A. SMITH International News Service Staff Correspondent

Teddington, Eng., April 18 (INS)—Laura La Plante didn't know whether to laugh (upon being granted a divorce from William Solter), or to cry (she loves him), who told her a life-size statue of her in the International News Service today in building a scene of an exclusive interview.

This core a spindly was the first to interview her in the American screen actress that Laura LaPlante.

Riga court had granted the divorce she applied for last January, and she was a little embarrassed at the fact, and quite surprised.

"Is it really true?" Miss LaPlante asked. "Oh, it's such a terrible surprise. Why haven't they told me? Maybe they'll send me a letter."

"The end is over, but at the same time I can't say I'm happy."

"I loved my husband, and now that he is my ex-husband I still love him and will love him all my life."

"I was for him over the three critical periods of maturity, maternity and middle age. It's just as good a medicine today as it was then. Better, in fact, because our chemists have improved it several times to keep it up to date. If you are nervous, weak, rundown and tired out, give it a chance to help you, too. All druggists sell it."

"I was all rundown, had headaches and dizzy spells. My mother and sister had taken the Vegetable Compound for years with great results so I tried it. Now I have new pep and I am singing all day long!" —Mrs. Thomas Horvath, 41 Crawford Street, Newark, New Jersey.

"When Dorothy was sixteen I gave her your Vegetable Compound and it relieved all her troubles. I used to take it myself and it always helped me!" —Mrs. Hollander, 2055 W. Walnut St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"Before my baby was born I was so rundown and nervous that I could not do my own housework. My mother told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ease my nerves and prepare me for childbirth. After only a few bottles I was up and doing my work cheerfully. Childbirth was very easy, thanks to your medicine!" —Mrs. John Ellis, 5308 So. Campbell Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Great Benefit Sponsored by Theater Men

By HARRIS MORGAN

Stellar entertainment, and plenty of it, will be the key to the special midnight show at the Gayety tonight. That this will be one of the greatest programs offered in many years, is due to the fact that leading showmen have joined helping hands—the show will be a benefit for Kate Pallman.

This writer, knowing the good cause and having knowledge of the high type of entertainment to be offered, urges theatergoers to attend. Kate Pallman, a vaudeville star who in health often gave of her time and talents to aid worthy charities. Last January she was seriously injured in an auto crash. And her Boston friends who loved her gave to her the material aid she gave so many times in the past at benefit performances.

Stars of the stage will appear in the bill and full of luck shows. Famous variety acts likewise are donating their efforts. This morning the morning of "turns" totaled more than 50, and half that number would be enough to furnish an unbeatable amusement program.

Pioneer in the effort was E. M. Rose, head of the chain of theaters that bear his name; he has contributed in many ways, giving over his Gayety Theater for the purpose, bringing in acts from other houses of his, donating the advertising, and helping out other ways. A hard worker for the cause has been Grover Burkhart, manager of the Gayety, and others are Victor J. Morris, of the Metro, and Bowdoin Square theaters; Samuel Pines and "Doc" Breese of the Metro offices; Hy Fino, Public Production chief for New England; Ross Frisco and James Kennedy of the Frisco theaters; John Connolly and Thomas Moran of the Metro; John Kennedy of the Metro; Edward Garfield of the Low (Lily) theaters; and Thomas B. Spry, of Warner Bros.

Spry will be the master of ceremonies for the benefit.

By Betty Alden

A NIGHT IN SPAIN at the Pops on May 3 for the benefit of that popular charity, The Christopher Shop, will draw out a large and fashionable gathering... rare and beautiful prizes will be given to those who arrive in the most beautiful costumes, the winners in the lucky number draws or who sell the largest number of programs... the best table group will also receive a prize.

Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Jean Maria Sanroma and Prof. Ford of Harvard will be the judges... In the event of Prof. Ford not being able to attend, he will send two Spanish professors from Harvard to act in his place. The first prize for the lucky number program will be a trip to the West Indies, donated by the Columbian Line... the best ladies' costume will be a beautiful fur wrap donated by T. J. Fox & Co., and the men's prize will be two quartets of rare champagne, donated by Mr. Nugent of the Back Bay Beveridge Company. The best table group will receive a basket of fine delicacies donated by S. S. Tupper Company.

The young lady who sells the most programs will receive a piece of unique jewelry donated by Mrs. Horace Morton and Mrs. Robert Fiske Hoffman is also donating a prize for this feature.

The decorations of Symphony Hall will be beautiful and colorful Spanish alcazar will be hung over the balconies and draped about the auditorium. Mrs. Robert L. Cushman gave a tea yesterday afternoon at which many of the young girls met to discuss their costumes and other features of the evening. The Christopher Shop Night at the Pops is always a gala event... last year it was a Gay Nineties' Night and made history for the beautiful and amusing costumes which were worn.

Bridge Held at Bloses' Home

THE LARGE AND BEAUTIFUL WILLIAM OSBORNE BLAKE mansion on Beacon st. was the setting for a jolly bridge and tea yesterday to swell the coffers of the Charlotte Cushman Club... Miss Catherine Blake, post-debutante daughter, and her committee sold about 50 tables to bridge and contract demons and from 2 o'clock until 4, not a sound was heard but the gentle fall of the cards.

Seated at a round table in the spacious bay window overlooking the Charles river in a lofty room, pane-paneled, which the Blake's built into their residence a few years ago to enjoy the river view, we glimpsed pretty Polly Coter in a smart black and pink ensemble with a group of sister debutantes, Misses Jeanette Osborne, Helen Hubbard and Betty Manahan. She informed us that her attractive uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Shea of Federal Hill Farms, Dedham, sailed on the Ile de France on Saturday at midnight for abroad. They will return about the middle of May.

Others noted in the throng around the tea tables after the bridge were Mrs. Malcolm B. French, president of the club, Mrs. Charles Wheelwright, Mrs. Frederick Brown, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Paul Bird, Miss Jean Adams, Miss Fanny Seelye, Mrs. Samuel Midlam, Miss Eleanor Jones, Mrs. Francis G. Shaw, Jr. and Virginia Stone.

Mrs. Robert F. Clark to Give Talk

INVITATIONS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FROM Mrs. Robert Farley Clark who has been abroad all winter to lecture at 333 Commonwealth ave. on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock... she will relate her interesting experiences in India and will illustrate her lecture with lantern slides. Tea will be served. Mrs. Clark has been a great traveler and it is always a pleasure for her friends to hear of her adventures when she returns from her roamings.

Mrs. F. Wainwright Perkins has likewise returned from an extended trip to Germany, Austria and Switzerland with her daughters, the Mauses Perkins.

Priscilla Prince Visiting Sister

MISS PRISCILLA PRINCE, daughter of Mrs. Charles Bernard Prince of Dover, is on a fortnight's visit with her sister, Mrs. Howard Elliott at Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Word comes that Priscilla Phelan, post-debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, is having a jolly time at Del Monte, Cal., for a few days before going on to San Francisco. Her parents are traveling with her.

MRS. A. BARR COMSTOCK had a luncheon at her home yesterday for the members of her advertising committee for the Boston Morning Musicians... Mrs. Comstock is making plans for the gathering of materials to make an interesting display of the merchandise of the advertisers in the program. The exhibition will take place at Fox Hill Farm, country estate of Mrs. William W. Fox at Westwood on Wednesday, April 25.

We listened to a most interesting lecture this week on the fascinating island of Mallorca given by Mrs. Herbert Jenkins of Brookline... Mrs. Jenkins lived seven months on this island paradise last year and her lantern slides were beautiful.

D. A. R. Warned of Ex-Mayor Walker New Pre-War Era and Betty Wed Year

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Daughters of the American Revolution, in annual congress, heard an educator assert today that America has "passed from the pre-war era to a new pre-war era." Dr. Thomas Henry, assistant dean of Georgetown University Foreign Service School, sitting at Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, said: "The danger of a new pre-war era is not a prophet on war," said in effect: "American people are aware that Napoleon and Hitler have been replaced by modern, plain, but more dangerous, men in Hitler, Stalin and other militant dictators."

Port readers of the classical states are included among the many special bargains offered during the Call of the Open Road Used Car Sale.

At a meeting tonight of Navy Post Plans will be made for active participation in the Suffolk County Memorial Day exercises. The newly formed auxiliary will hold its first meeting tonight.

A Great Gift

Cook-Boos

by Ted Cook

"Regardless of publicity, I have been too gentle," says General Johnson.

Rare, it's just in regard to publicity that the General has been ferocious.

CLUB NEWS DEPT.
 (Lester M. Johnson)
 Mrs. C. and Mr. Johnson, Boston, have just now a new addition to their family. It is a very little girl, named after the General's wife, and she is the first of her kind in the family. The General is very fond of her, and she is very fond of him. The General is very fond of her, and she is very fond of him.

Our Correspondent, Mr. Johnson, has just received a letter from the General. The letter is very interesting, and it is very long. It is very interesting, and it is very long.

"Things never get much better," sighs Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "till people stop judging each new development by how it'll affect whatever business they happen to be in at the time."

ONWARD AND UPWARD

"Even a simple Paramount's new production, 'The Great Dictator,' has a chance in her own right to protect her from the same fate as the man in the picture. No man is permitted to laugh her before the camera unless she is a woman."

Kentucky's prohibition law is still unopposed, but liquor may be obtained on prescriptions which you write for yourself. There's an idea for you. It ought to stamp out liquor in no time.

How about restricting the sale of liquor, elsewhere, to those who can read the labels and laugh?

IS NOT IMPOSSIBLE. It is not so hard to do. It is not impossible to do. Only the need to conquer your nine.

THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

It would be nice to give this theme a romantic ending, like in the Frank Merriwell series and say how our heroes finally scaled the heights of glory. But the fact is that a couple of innings later, in the sudden death stages, Joe Cronin gentled the ball up against a left field whiskey sign, from whence, after a bit, he came home. And that was all, because there wasn't any more.

Philadelphia, April 18 (INS)—Disappearance of Frank Pearce, pitcher of the National League Philadelphia Baseball Club, was disclosed today.

Pearce, 26, was learned, has been mysteriously missing since yesterday morning, when he left the hotel where his team was staying and did not appear in the train which took him to Philadelphia to work for the season's opening game with the Giants.

Efforts to locate the pitcher today proved futile.

Fear was expressed by members of the Phils that Pearce had been kidnapped, with a second victim.

The pitcher was out the greater part of last year with a serious knee, and suffered a heart attack last September, following which he collapsed an operation for peritonitis.

Mr. Boston Says:

Baseball's Big Opening
Sax Possees Power
Warneke Just Misses

By Jack Conway

SPEAKING of baseball, the game is set for one of its biggest seasons. Especially in Boston where there is new hope. The crowd at the Red Sox-Senators opener proved this. There were 30,336 paid admissions. The invitation has brought the Sox to the top of the list.

SPORTS, like business, are on the way out of the depression. A crowd of 30,336 paid admissions at the Red Sox-Senators game in Boston where there is new hope. The crowd at the Red Sox-Senators opener proved this. There were 30,336 paid admissions. The invitation has brought the Sox to the top of the list.

Mr. Boston cannot think of his troubles as a baseball player. He is a businessman and a citizen. He is a man of many parts.

Sox Have Batting Punch
THE SOX proved they have the bat to come from behind when they spotted the Senators a five-run lead, but the score, and more than that, the fact that the Sox had the lead, was a big morale boost.

AND to think it was just 20 years ago when the Sox first stepped on the field in Fenway Park, and the Sox were a team of underdogs. At the time he was just out of the hands of New York when he was shipped to Fenway by Bill Carrigan, who didn't think he was big enough physically to make the big league club.

THE FIELD at Fenway Park is a good one. It is a good one for the Sox. It is a good one for the Sox. It is a good one for the Sox.

Warneke's Great Game
WARNEKE WARNEKE, the Chicago Cubs pitcher, was a great game. He was a great game. He was a great game.

THE CUBS were led by a man who was a great game. He was a great game. He was a great game.

GOVERNMENT got as much enjoyment out of the Red Sox opening as any fan in the center of the nation. A team interested in politics enables the governor to keep his mind on the present.

Berger's Opportunity
THE STAG was a big opportunity for Walter Berger when he came to bat for the Braves in the ninth inning against Brooklyn. The score at the time was 8 to 6 in favor of the Dodgers.

Baseball and Football

on Patriots' Day
School Bill

By Bill Connell

A brisk program of baseball, and one colorful football game, highlight the schedule for tomorrow among the schoolboy athletes.

Out of the customary grid season, the game will draw the major crowd of the day at scholastic contests when Denny Gliden takes his Everett high eleven to the Lincoln.

The Lincoln squad has been pointing for this test, but Everett is the probable victor. The latter team has a heavy, fast lineup with plenty of veteran strength. Primed by more than three weeks of hard work, Everett has the needed point.

Capt. Ralph Freeman leads the team at center, with a capable line on each side. In the balanced Notre Dame formation line, The Everett backfield includes Sammie Gentile and Jerry Johnson, star kick performers.

This game is more than a Spring workout. With favorable weather conditions the tilt will draw many cash customers and do a lot toward paying the freight for Spring practice.

The baseball games have five Boston high schools meeting alumni clubs, English, Dorchester, Brighton, Jamaica Plain and Charlestown. Five Cambridge High School League games are on with the League of Brookline at the City of All Saints at Immature, St. Mary's at St. Mary's, St. Mary's at St. Mary's, St. Mary's at St. Mary's.

Tufa freshmen were to visit Huntington School this morning for the season's opener for both teams at Huntington Field. Monte Moore named Bob Doyle as the starting school pitcher, with Vin the Wright told in reserve. The Huntington lineup had third baseman Joe Hall, the infielder Hank Snow catching, Bob Buckley at short, Fred Bird in right, Ted Wright in center, Sam Convey at second, Alex Castoreo in left field, Paul Williams at first and the pitcher at the foot of the list.

HELEN JACOBS READY FOR DRIVE

ROUNDED OUT
HER GAME

Physically case-hardened by the rigors of her first New England winter, Miss Helen Jacobs, queen of the tennis world, today was prepared to conquer new tennis fields. Long months of indoor tennis at the Longwood covered courts in Brookline rather than that beneath a warm sun in her home state, California, did not retard Queen Helen. It's a shame, in fact, she admitted today, that it had had a good effect.

"My tennis has been much steadier in the past few months than for some time," she said. "I find I am much more comfortable in the sun, but to my surprise it wasn't so."

READY FOR FOREIGNERS
"I am now ready for my European tour which will take me to Italy, France and England. When I reach Wimbledon I hope to be at the peak of my game. I will compete in the United States to play at Forest Hills and in other major tournaments."

PLANS INCOMPLETE
The champion's European plans are still incomplete. At the present time, it appears that Miss Jacobs will leave for Italy although she hopes that Miss Sarah Palfrey, whom she recently clasped as one of the best doubles players in the game and with whom she has played during the winter, would be able to make the trip. Miss Jacobs will leave within the next few weeks. She will join other members of the Wightman cup team either in France or Wimbledon.

Ryan Just Won't Stay Out of Giants' Lineup

By Associated Press

New York, April 18 (AP)—You could almost see the canary feathers

picking out of the corners of Bill

Terry's mouth—he was so pleased with the world in general and his world champion Giants in particular.

"They had no world a little in the South, but I'm afraid nothing is going to be any much all right," he grinned. "This sure look good in there. This is quite a ball club."

The Giants had just finished picking up about a two-thirds of the opposition in the season's first game, and Ryan, left out of last game, was back in the lineup.

British Aviation Free of Politics

The British take their pleasures and they take their business seriously and none more seriously than the business of the national defense.

Whatever tends to strengthen the defense of their empire is developed to the limit of their national resources, and nothing, not even partisan politics, is permitted to interfere with that development.

Political parties in Britain may play politics with all other issues, but never with that of the national defense. It is the one issue on which the parties are united, and the one to which they all pull together for the strongest Navy permitted by the treaty, for the best-equipped Army, and for whatever is necessary in aviation.

As the British built up their merchant marine for defense as well as for trade, thereby making trade contribute to its own defense, so they are building up airways as highways for warfare as well as for commerce and pleasure.

With a smaller country and less need for flying from part to part, they have become more air-minded than Americans confronted with magnificent distances in their transportation.

AMERICAN invention and mechanical skill gave the world the airplane, but the American mind has taken proportionately greater advantage of its uses.

American politics, instead of helping, has hindered the progress of aviation.

British politics, instead of hindering, has helped its progress. It has made aviation a separate department of the Government, with a Secretary and a seat in the British Cabinet.

British air forces are provided with special appropriations and are not an appendage of the Army or the Navy.

We British specially built for the air express. The trained commander of an airplane to spend a portion of his time pacing the deck of a British battleship.

That folly is reserved for the way in which the national defense is managed in the United States.

LOOK at the picture and read the article reproduced and reprinted from the Bystander of London in the adjoining columns. Note the pride, the national pride, taken by the British in the new airplane specially built for the air express.

It is presented as a national event, and it is precisely that in a country where aviation is regarded not merely as a commercial enterprise but as an important factor in the national defense.

The British Government would not suddenly cancel its contracts and leave the people without an air mail service. If it had not Army fliers to fly the mail, which it has, it would commandeer the private planes, operate them with their specially trained air mail pilots and compensate the owners, quite apart from whatever decision might be reached when the contracts were submitted to a properly constituted court of justice.

The process of law is a right written into the American Constitution, but it is not always observed by American Governments.

There is no written British Constitution, but due process of law is an inherent British right, rigidly observed by the British Government in commercial dealings with its subjects.

READ the article reprinted from the Bystander and see how British airways are going ahead while ours are being delayed by the "college boys" who are responsible for so many of the mistakes of the Administration.

They are the MISDEALERS of the New Deal.

Read the accompanying article and note that the British are winning to make their "Emmie Day" "Aviation Day."

Our aviation day was the day the "college boys" came aviation to America a ten-year setback by canceling the air mail contracts without due process of law, and turning the air mail over to Army fliers without specialized training of the kind required and with planes not constructed for air mail purposes, and now trying to make aviation in this country a political pique.

PREPARATIONS for new air lines to link up all the important towns in the country are being rapidly completed.

The air-ferries which have been such a success, Bristol-Carfax, Hull-Grimsby, Portsmouth-Isle of Wight, will be increased in frequency. Services from London to the Channel Islands, from Glasgow to Belfast, from the north of Scotland to the Shetland Islands, are now in operation.

Seasonal lines to health resorts and the coast will be resumed, such as Heston to the Isle of Wight, London to Margate, and Clacton, Liverpool, to the Isle of Man and Ireland.

The Royal Dutch Air Lines will commence its service across the North Sea from Hull to Amsterdam, with a connection at the English end to Liverpool.

Banco will run a frequent service to Le Touquet, probably in association, and in competition, with Imperial Air.

ways, whose Paris lines stop there at week-ends during the summer.

Continental air travel will be easier and cheaper than ever before, with connections from London to nearly 200 cities, half of which can be reached in a day's flight.

The British air route to the East will be flown the whole distance, Lyons and Marseilles being added to the stopping places, with Rome or Naples before Bristol or Corfu. New air lines built by De Havilland, Airspeed and Boulton and Paul are making possible the extension of services to home and feeder lines abroad.

EMPIRE AIR DAY

Air Commodore Chamer, who runs the Air League, has suggested that Empire Day should be Aviation Day.

Country, and this brainwave has been welcomed by the light aerodrome clubs and by the Ministry, who will co-operate with the League. All aerodromes, both civil and service, with the possible exception of experimental stations, will be thrown open to the public. There will be an opportunity of seeing the Royal Air Force at close quarters, the idea being similar to that of Navy Week, when the taxpayer is allowed to inspect his own battleships.

AMERICAN AVIATION

The annual garden party of the Guild of Air Pilots is the first important event of the season; the date is May 21, but the aerodromes have not yet been chosen. The Brooklands air display is on June 2, the London Club's garden party on the following day, and the Royal Air Force display is at Hendon on June 30.

The first of the King's Cup will be flown from Hatfield on July 13 and 14, and until October 20, when the international speed race to Melbourne is timed to start, there are fixtures of interest to the general public and the air-conscious every week.

If Roosevelt's decree, cancelling the present air-mail contracts, and ordering the Army to fly the post, is supported by Congress, American aviation is likely to suffer a decline from its pinnacle.

It is particularly unfortunate that operators and manufacturers should be inter-connected financially, for a loss of contracts by the former will react unfavorably on the latter.

The honor to make the first entry for the England-Australia race has fallen to Aircraft Exchange and Mart, concessionaries for Airspeed products. A standard "Cheetah" courier will be flown in the handicap section, the machine not being fast enough to win the speed prize.

I hear that Flight-Lt. R. C. Preston has been appointed to the Duchesne of Bedford, who has two machines, a Gipsy, and a "Puma" with which he gets plenty of flying. The Duchesne takes particular pride in the appearance of her machines, which have won several prizes at Concours d'Elégance.
